BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE DRAWINGS

Fig. 1 is a block diagram of... ..installed at a customer's terminal, and specialized information such as data indicating whether a rate table service has been subscribed to.

The MSSSPC also is equipped with management software for supporting... ..media. A number of conventional mailing/shipping devices, such as a postage scale 13, a postage meter/mailing machine 14, a report printer 15, and a shipping label printer 16, may also...shipping programs, as well as customized features. These mailing/shipping features may include postage/shipping rate tables for one or more mailing and shipping carriers (including the U.S. Postal Service), rate...the MSSSPC terminal. (Block 30). If the customer does not have access to a phone/modem connection, the mailing/shipping software may include a feature that will allow a customer to... ..through the communications path, if the one or more features selected for modification correspond to rate tables for mailing/shipping carriers (including the U.S. Postal Service), accounting features, or mailing/shipping...appreciated. For example, if desired, or if the customer does not have access to a modem connection, the MSSSPC may communicate with the customer by sending the customer a CD, disk... ..The modifications to be performed in these embodiments are either the addition of a new rate table to the customer terminal software (second embodiment) or the addition of a software feature... ..sale to customers (third embodiment).

Referring to Fig. 5, after the MSSSPC develops a new rate table, the MSSSPC scans its customer data base (Block 200) to identify customers who have paid for a rate table update service (Block 21). Similarly, after developing a new software feature, the MSSSPC may scan... ..basis, which mailing/shipping features have been activated. It is then determined whether the new rate table or new feature developed is applicable to that customer (e.g., new bar-code featuresfactors about the customers, e.g./ previous ordering patterns, geographic location, shipping volume, etc. New rate tables and features may then be linked to customers on this basis.
